[Faint handwritten text, possibly a signature or a short note, located below the main address.]

The first part of the manuscript is written in a cursive hand, likely from the 17th or 18th century. The text is dense and covers most of the page. It appears to be a historical document or a collection of letters, given the use of words like "honorable" and "your" in the opening lines. The ink is dark brown, and the paper shows signs of age, including some staining and wear at the edges. The handwriting is consistent throughout, suggesting a single scribe. The text is written in a single column, filling the page from top to bottom.
