The text is written in a dense, cursive script, likely a historical or legal document. It begins with a header section containing names and titles, including "Don Juan de..." and "Don..." followed by various ranks and offices. The main body of the text consists of several paragraphs of dense handwriting, detailing specific events, appointments, or legal proceedings. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge of the language and period.

Handwritten text at the top of the page, including the word "es" and "56".

Handwritten signature or name, possibly "Francisco de Paula" or similar.

Handwritten text, possibly a date or location, including "1789" and "Madrid".

Handwritten text, possibly a name or title, including "Antonio Simón" and "don".

Handwritten text, possibly a name or title, including "Protector" and "de".

Main body of handwritten text, appearing to be a letter or document, with several lines of cursive script.
